

Chris Matthews
Vice President, Senior Consultant

Christopher Matthews is Vice President and a Senior Consultant, employed with GCI Consultants since 2002. He has over twenty-five years of experience working with exterior glazing and wall systems, and specializes in the installation and water resistance of these systems. He has consulted with owners, architects, engineers, insurers, and builders on hundreds of projects throughout North America and the Caribbean, and also serves as an expert witness in related matters. He has worked extensively in the construction of new projects and the investigation and correction of existing structures with performance problems. Mr. Matthews is a graduate of the University of Florida, a certified EIFS inspector, a Certified Building Commissioning Professional, and a member of various industry organizations. He has published articles in several trade periodicals and made many accredited presentations to other industry professionals.