

Terry Tucker
Senior Technician

Terry Tucker is a Senior Technician at GCI Consultants, LLC where he has worked for over 12 years. Mr. Tucker's duties at GCI range from the lead technician on ASTM water intrusion testing to the inspection of large envelope installations.

Mr. Tucker has spent his entire working career in the building construction industry. After serving as a Marine in Vietnam, he returned to the U.S. and started working as an ironworker/welder in the building construction business. Although he continued as an ironworker, he also expanded into the glazing business adding glass installation to his experience. The 6+ years prior to joining GCI were spent as a business owner providing remedial services for the repair of building envelope issues across Florida and beyond.

With this extensive experience and background in building construction, Mr. Tucker was a natural fit to join GCI and apply this experience to serve and assist GCI's extensive client base. He is swing stage and lift operation certified.
